English 2 Honors/Pre-AP Book Circles (choice)

The English 2 Honors course covers some of the College Board's Pre-AP curriculum. I tend to begin with rhetorical analysis, SOAPSTone, Rhetorical Appeals, GSE Paragrapshs etc, and then I move on to Literature analysis by the last 3/4 of the semester. I give students a choice of Young Adult novels to read with which students read within a group setting. These books are chosen for their impact during the decade they were written. Some choices I provide include; A Separate Peace and The Lord of The Flies for World War II era or The Chocolate War for the 1970s and Tiger Eyes for the 1980s. In the past, I have offered Speak and the perks of being a wallflower for the 1990s which students have enjoyed and often choose to read. Students read and analyze these books through various literary approaches (Formal, Historical, Biographical, Sociological, Philosophical, Psychological, and Reader's Response). Students begin with the historical research of the decade in which the text was written or written about as well as biographical research on the author. Each student then reads a section of the book through the lens of one of these approaches, provides evidence and commentary from the section, shares out to their group, and then they discuss it. Each student has an opportunity to examine a section of the book from a different literary perspective. The final project is a review of the novel through the various literary approaches and a recommendation based on the connections they made with characters and themes.

The Perks of Being a Wallflower by Stephen Chbosky Educational Significance

- 1. This novel supports BCSD's mission, vision, and goals by providing a "personalized learning approach" and supporting a "diverse community" of students. Charlie is a victim of sexual abuse from a relative and his response to events in the story is informative to students who may have experienced the same and are suffering from the same manner of repressed memories and behavioral mannerisms Charlie exhibits. Charlie represents our neurodiverse community by displaying what appears to be undiagnosed Autism and behavior consistent with a trauma survivor including overanalysis of situations, sensitivity to others' emotions, and seeking gratification/self-soothing through the use of alcohol and drugs. This novel also reflects the experience of gay teenagers and the stigma associated with homosexual relationships, also representative of our diverse community.
- 2. The novel contributes to improved academic achievement for a variety of learners due to its epistolary format of letter writing, an engaging and unconventional manner of writing that many children actively seek out when choosing books for personal reading and as an academic supplement to assignments. National School Library Standards VC1 states "learners develop and satisfy personal curiosity by reading widely and deeply in multiple formats" and numerous peer-reviewed research studies show the correlation between improved academic achievement and reading.
- 3. This novel promotes the integration of higher-level thinking skills because of the incorporation of the many books Charlie's English teacher has him read in addition to his normal classwork. On the Road, The Stranger, This Side of Paradise, Peter Pan, A Separate Peace, To Kill a Mockingbird, The Catcher in the Rye, The Great Gatsby, Hamlet, Walden, and The Fountainhead are accessible titles, many of them on the approved extended reading lists for BCSD high schools, and are used as part of the English curriculum. A study of those titles can be broken down into the specific challenges Charlie faces and how they reflect in his response. Perks could be an optional companion novel to one of the aforementioned texts that analyze the corresponding characters, relationships, and events across several ELA curriculum standards.
- 4. This novel reflects the needs/interests of the school and culture of the community through the inclusion of everyday situations and the characters' response to drugs, alcohol, bullying, suicide, sex (both wanted and unwanted), teen pregnancy/abortion, and sexual trauma. The subject matter is relevant and highly relatable to high school students of all levels since Charlie is a 9th grader but was held back so he is older and driving by the second semester, his friends are graduating, hence the entire 9-12 spectrum is represented. The events in Perks are not unique and happen right here in Beaufort County, they are a direct reflection of many of our students' lived experiences. Not only does this story show how easily a student can be affected by negative thoughts and patterns, it is also an outstanding example of positive interventions, setting boundaries, getting help through therapy, and building meaningful relationships.
- 5. Perks adds value to the school library collection because it is representative of our student body, and as previously mentioned provides numerous examples of positive behavior and supports in light of difficult circumstances. Specific examples include:

 Based on the format of chronological letters through the school year and then separated into 4 parts that coincide with major revelations and/or changes in the dynamic of Charlie's psyche it has a high degree of readability and clarity.

Avoidance of Pervasive Vulgarity

- 1. When considered as a whole, Perks does not appeal to sexual interest in a shameful way. In fact, there are multiple discussions of consent, what that looks like, how to ask for it, and what to do when you're not comfortable in the situation. (See pages 112, 124, and 202). The sexual activity present is not lascivious or lewdly descriptive. It is relayed in very mature language and explained in a manner that makes it understandable and clear for students.
- 2. Scenes describing sexual activity include:
 - a. There is one sex scene. It is when Charlie walks in on his older sister and her boyfriend having sex on the couch in the basement. (page 12) He says "my sister and this boy were naked. He was on top of her and her legs were draped over either side of the couch. And she screamed at me in a whisper. 'Get out. You pervert.' So I left." His perspective is clinical, not prurient or obsessive. Charlie later mentions feeling ashamed about having a dream about him and Sam doing what he saw his sister do (see page 21) and feels compelled to tell Sam about it because in his mind he "saw her naked without her permission", he even began to cry about it when he told her because he felt bad. The conversation that ensued set boundaries for their friendship (see page 22).
 - b. There are two discussions of masturbation. First, after Charlie dreamed about Sam on page 21 he says "Do you know what 'masturbation' is?... Masturbation is when you rub your genitals until you have an orgasm. Wow!" A clinical and biological description of an activity that many students perform or are curious about. The second time is on page 27 when Charlie tells how often he masturbates and who he thinks about "...I also forgot to tell you how often I do it now, which is a lot. I don't like to look at pictures, just close my eyes and dream about a lady I do not know. And I try not to feel ashamed. I never think about Sam when I do it." Again, this is a sterile description of an act that many students perform or are curious about including the mention of how he tries not to feel ashamed about pleasuring himself.
 - c. There is one rape scene. It is when Charlie tells the story of the first party at his house that his older siblings threw, we estimate him to be around 12 and a boy and girl come in to "use the room" (pages 30-32). He describes the boy and girl being drunk, kissing, and the girl began protesting and crying "Please. Dave. No." the boy talks softly to her about how good she looked trying to convince her that it was ok. Charlie says "I wish I could describe this a little more nicely without using words like penis, but that was the way it was." Charlie describes the girl performing oral sex: "she started to kiss his penis. She was still crying. Finally, she stopped crying because he put his penis in her mouth". Charlie "...had to stop watching at that point because I started to feel sick" ... "They kept doing other things, and she kept saying 'no'. Even when I covered my ears I could still

- b. The emotional analysis of each situation that Charlie encountered including the use of alcohol and drugs, the reason why he was partaking, and what he thought about them.
- c. The use of vulgarity was not pervasive, and only the clinical names of anatomy were used [penis, breasts]. There were four curse words that appeared a total of 11 times [asshole, fuck(ing), bullshit, shit], and 4 slang and potentially offensive terms [bitchy dyke, faggot, pussy, prick] that appeared 6 times.
- d. The gained understanding of the nature of his gay friend's existence and homosexual relationship and having to keep it secret because homosexuality was something to hide in the early 90's.
- 4. The remaining depictions of sexual activity are when Charlie and Patrick share stories of other people at school with each other, they are not engaging in these acts, merely telling them so they are descriptive but not overtly graphic because they do not contain explicit details. These are snippets of events and do use crude language on pages 158-160. "They did it doggy-style with one of the sandwich bags" because they didn't have a condom. A guy "was caught masturbating at a drunk party." A girl developed breasts at a young age and "would let some of the boys feel them." Another girl "who allegedly masturbated with a hot dog and had to go to the emergency room." Charlie then wonders what they must feel like now when they "go to their class reunions. I wonder if they're embarrassed, and I wonder if that's a small price to pay for being a legend." The events are relayed with only enough information to get the point across.

Appropriateness

- 1. Professional review sources recommend this book for teens and grades 9 and up, and after full review of the material I agree that it is appropriate for grades 9-12. There are many difficult issues that Charlie encounters, from the suicide of a friend before he enters high school, dealing with repressed sexual assault that happened somewhere around the age of 5-7, experiencing his first party (age 11 or 12), first use of drugs (marijuana and LSD) (age 15) and alcohol (beer, wine, brandy are mentioned) (age 15), and first sexual experience that he willingly participates in (age 16) not sex itself, just making out. These are all experiences that high school students encounter and discuss every day. The way Charlie analyzes his experiences, confronts longheld beliefs by his family, and shares honest emotions with his friends make this an outstanding example of overcoming personal and generational trauma and recovering dignity and self-worth.
- 2. As for maturity, this novel is again appropriate for grades 9-12 since many young people partake in their first drug or alcoholic drink between the ages of 12-16. According to WSU article (2020) the national average is rising to around 16, which is a trend in the right direction, and early onset use was typically 15 (data varies based on study participants and other parameters). So by the time students enter high school they may have already had a first-hand experience with drugs or alcohol or soon will. They may have also already experienced sexual assault according to the Department of Justice statistics as reported to law enforcement, nearly 40% of victims are under the age of 12. Charlie's sister gets pregnant and has an abortion, she happens to be 18 at the time so asks Charlie to drive her so their parents don't find out. I should also mention she ended

- I. Purpose. This administrative regulation establishes the Superintendent's expectations regarding procedures for receiving and handling questioned or challenged school library materials in the Beaufort County School District (BCSD).
- II. Non-Discrimination. The BCSD affirms the right of all individuals to be treated with respect and to be protected from intimidation, discrimination, physical harm, and/or harassment. The BCSD is committed to nondiscrimination and equal opportunity for all students, parents/legal guardians, staff, visitors, applicants for admission and employment, personnel, and community members who participate or seek to participate in its educational programs or activities. Accordingly, the BCSD does not discriminate against any individual on the basis of race, religion, gender, gender identity, sexual orientation, sex, pregnancy, childbirth, or any related medical conditions, color, physical or mental disability, age (40 or older), ancestry, genetic information, national origin, or any other applicable status protected by Title VI, Title IX or any other local, state, or federal law.

III. Reconsideration of School Library Materials.

- A. All BCSD employees are charged with the responsibility of upholding the principle of intellectual freedom rather than defending a selected educational resource.
- B. The BCSD shall be operated to promote academic freedom, the student's right to read, and the fair and reasonable competition of ideas and information. School officials may not broadly remove books from a school library based on "narrowly partisan or political" grounds that may violate students' first amendment rights to receive information and ideas.
- C. Under exigent circumstances, BCSD district administrators reserve the right to institute an Administrative Review Committee to conduct a review.
- D. The reconsideration process should conserve limited staff resources, discourage the monopolization of the challenge process by a few individuals, and require complainants to submit complete, substantive, and fully researched challenge requests.
- IV. Rights to Challenge. Any BCSD student or employee, any parent/legal guardian of a BCSD student, and any person residing in a BCSD attendance zone may challenge specific materials found in school libraries.
 - A. The BCSD recognizes the right of a parent/legal guardian to ask that particular school library materials not be made available to their own children, by completing the, "Request to Opt-Out of School Library Materials Form," attached to this Administrative Regulation as Attachment 1. This form is also available on the BCSD website and at the school site.

- 1. At least one teacher with expertise in the content area and grade level;
- 2. At least one school librarian;
- 3. At least one school administrator;
- 4. At least one parent representing a school family other than the complainant;
- 5. At least one community member;
- 6. At least one district-level director or coordinator with expertise in the content area; and
- 7. At least one member of a School Improvement Council within the district/school;
- D. When possible, each member of the Materials Reconsideration Committee should represent different schools, and none should be employed at the school for which the request has been filed. At the discretion of the Superintendent, exceptions to this rule may be made for material that is widely available at most BCSD schools.
- E. BCSD Materials Reconsideration Committee and Administrative Review Committee will use the "Beaufort County School District Reconsideration Committee Checklist" attached to this Administrative Regulation as Attachment 3.

VI. Materials Reconsideration Committee.

- A. The Materials Reconsideration Committee will study the complainant's submissions on the, "Request For Reconsideration Of School Library Materials Form," read/examine the referenced materials in full, and meet as a group to share and discuss their findings. The value of any material must be examined as a whole. The impact of an entire work will be considered, transcending individual words, phrases, and incidents
- B. The Materials Reconsideration Committee shall complete its review and issue a written report within fifteen (15) business days of initial receipt of the formal complaint. A copy of the report shall be sent to the complainant, the Superintendent, and the Board of Education.
- C. If the Materials Reconsideration Committee recommends any changes regarding access to the material in question (such as the addition/removal of the material) the Superintendent or designee will be responsible for communicating those changes to the appropriate personnel who shall ensure that such changes are made in a timely manner.
- D. If the Materials Reconsideration Committee recommends the material in question be removed, the BCSD must ensure no other copies exist in school library circulation within the BCSD for the school level(s) it has been recommended for removal.

SCHOOL LIBRARY MATERIALS SELECTION & ADOPTION

- I. Purpose. This Administrative Regulation establishes the Superintendent's expectations for the selection and adoption of school library materials to support and enrich the instructional program and recreational reading needs of students in the Beaufort County School District (BCSD).
- II. Non-Discrimination. The BCSD affirms the right of all individuals to be treated with respect and to be protected from intimidation, discrimination, physical harm, and/or harassment. The BCSD is committed to nondiscrimination and equal opportunity for all students, parents/legal guardians, staff, visitors, applicants for admission and employment, personnel, and community members who participate or seek to participate in its educational programs or activities. Accordingly, the BCSD does not discriminate against any individual on the basis of race, religion, gender, gender identity, sexual orientation, sex, pregnancy, childbirth, or any related medical conditions, color, physical or mental disability, age (40 or older), ancestry, genetic information, national origin, or any other applicable status protected by Title VI, Title VII, Title IX or any other local, state, or federal law.

III. Definitions.

- A. Instructional Material. Instructional materials are all materials designed for use by students and their teachers as a learning resource. They may be printed or non-printed and may include books, audiovisual materials and kits, and computer programs.
- B. Instructional Program. School libraries should support the academic curriculum to promote student achievement by providing information resources in a variety of formats within school grade bands.
- C. Recreational Reading. Recreational reading is the reading students choose to do on their own. It reflects the reader's personal choice of the material, within the scope of the school library's collection. Recreational reading is done for information or for pleasure, no one assigns it.

IV. Role of the School Library Professionals.

- A. School Librarians at each school hold the primary responsibility for identifying, selecting, classifying, and organizing school library materials. School library materials include library books, audiovisuals, electronic resources, and other materials. Since materials are selected to provide for the broad curricular needs and interests of the school community, school librarians welcome and consider suggestions from principals, teachers, students, and other members of the school community. The school principal has the responsibility to adhere to the BCSD defined procedures and practices for the purchase of all instructional materials.
- B. School Librarians should develop a school library collection which creates and sustains a diverse and accessible range of materials appropriate to the developmental and maturity levels of the students served. A well-developed school library collection provides space and resources for a variety of views and ideas and supports students as they develop the critical information literacy skills necessary to locate, analyze, evaluate, interpret, and communicate information and ideas within a pluralistic and increasingly media-rich society.

library materials. When selecting materials, School Librarians must consult reputable, unbiased, and professionally prepared selection aides (such as School Library Journal, Kirkus Reviews, Booklist, Publisher's Weekly, The Horn Book, and The Bulletin of the Center for Children Books). The school-level library acquisitions committee will review the entire list of suggested school library material. Items considered for purchase will be reviewed using the SCDE guidelines in addition to the following considerations:

- 1. Needs of the school and value to the collection;
- 2. Reputation and significance of author and producer;
- 3. Clarity, adequacy, and scope of text;
- 4. Validity, accuracy, objectivity, currency, appropriateness of text;
- 5. Organization and presentation of contents;
- 6. High degree of readability and/or comprehensibility;
- 7. High artistic quality and/or literary style; and
- 8. Value commensurate with cost.
- 9. Educational significance:
 - 1. Support the BCSD's mission, vision, and goals.
 - 2. Directly support the acquisition of related standards.
 - 3. Contribute to improved academic achievement for a variety of learners and learning styles.
 - 4. Promote the integration of higher-level thinking skills.
 - 5. Reflects the needs/interests of the school and the culture of the school community.
 - 6. Adds value to the library/school collection.
 - 7. Reflects a clear, adequate, and broad presentation of the content.
- 10. Be of excellent quality, content, and manner of presentation.
 - 1. Be aligned to instructional standards, as outlined in the South Carolina Department of Education College and Career Readiness Standards.
 - 2. Be engaging and able to meet a variety of student needs. Meet high standards of quality in factual content and presentation to include, but not limited to:
 - i. No errors, validity, accuracy;
 - ii. Objectivity;
 - iii. Well written; and
 - iv. Strong visual appeal.

- K. In accordance with Administrative Regulation OS-9 Authorized Signatures, school principals and department heads are authorized to sign all BCSD purchase orders and payment requests.
- L. Gift materials will be evaluated by the criteria outlined above and will be accepted or rejected in accordance with these criteria. Gifted materials may be rejected in accordance with these criteria or additional considerations, such as available space, duplication/overlap of current resources, conflicting collection development priorities, and other related factors.
- VI. Classification and Organization of School Library Materials. The classification and organization of library materials (to include cataloging, labeling, shelving, and special displays) will be determined by School Librarians to best meet the needs of the school community. A consortium catalog will be used to allow for standardized cataloging processes and to facilitate resource-sharing opportunities between individual schools, such as interlibrary loan.
- VII. School Library Collection Inventories and Analyses. School Librarians will conduct collection inventories and analyses at least once a year, to ensure accurate cataloging data/records and to identify aged, outdated, or lost materials. Generally, librarians should build library collections with the following goals:
 - A. As needed, at least 5% of the collection is updated annually.
 - B. The overall average copyright date for the fiction books, including Easy, paperbacks, audiobooks and ebooks, is no more than 15 years from the current calendar date.
 - C. The overall average copyright date for the nonfiction books, including Easy, audiobooks and ebooks, is no more than 5 years from the current calendar date.
 - D. The average copyright date for the total collection is no more than 11 years from current calendar date.
- VIII. Materials Deselection. Weeding, or the regular removal of items from a library collection, is essential to maintaining a current and appealing collection. In adherence with the South Carolina Department of Education Standards for School Library Resource Collections, and to keep the library collection relevant to current and anticipated needs, school librarians will regularly weed from the library catalog based on subjective and objective criteria as follows:
 - A. Objective Criteria for weeding is based on collection data sourced from the above referenced collection inventories, analyses, and circulation reports. Objective criteria for weeding may include:
 - a. Material exceeds overall target copyright date for the collection area as listed above.

- 3. Contribute to improved academic achievement for a variety of learners and learning styles.
- 4. Promote the integration of higher-level thinking skills.
- 5. Reflects the needs/interests of the school and the culture of the school community.
- 6. Adds value to the library/school collection.
- 7. Reflects a clear, adequate, and broad presentation of the content.
- j. Be of excellent quality, content, and manner of presentation.
 - 1. Be aligned to instructional standards, as outlined in the South Carolina Department of Education College and Career Readiness Standards.
 - 2. Be engaging and able to meet a variety of student needs. Meet high standards of quality in factual content and presentation to include, but not limited to:
 - i. No errors, validity, accuracy;
 - ii. Objectivity;
 - iii. Well written; and
 - iv. Strong visual appeal.
 - 3. Ensure reputation and significance of author and producer.
 - 4. Contains a value commensurate with cost.
 - 5. High artistic quality, and/or literary style.
 - 6. Avoid bias and adhere to standards of sensitivity relative to student race, sex, religion, culture, ethnicity, disability, and socioeconomic status.
 - 7. Contains clarity, adequacy, and scope of text.
 - 8. Organized in a manner that provides clarity and ease to the reader.
 - 9. Ensures a high degree of readability and/or comprehensibility.

k. Avoid pervasive vulgarity

- 1. When considered as a whole, does not appeal to sexual interest in a shameful manner.
- 2. Does not depict or describe, in a clearly offensive way, sexual conduct.
- 3. Abides by prevailing standards in the adult community as to what is suitable material for minors.
- 4. Is free from graphic depictions of sexual activity.

1. Appropriateness of text to the:

- 1. Age and grade level of students.
- 2. Maturity level of students.
- 3. Content area.
- 4. Reflects the contemporary community standards.
- m. Resources should be free of political bias, unless being used to address a related standard. In this case, a broad range of views should be presented.

much, lead to confusion and anxiety. Perhaps the folks at (co-publisher) MTV see the synergy here with Daria or any number of videos by the sensitive singer-songwriters they feature.

Publishers Weekly (January 25, 1999)

A trite coming-of-age novel that could easily appeal to a YA readership, filmmaker Chbosky's debut broadcasts its intentions with the publisher's announcement that ads will run on MTV. Charlie, the wallflower of the title, goes through a veritable bath of bathos in his 10th grade year, 1991. The novel is formatted as a series of letters to an unnamed "friend," the first of which reveals the suicide of Charlie's pal Michael, Charlie's response--valid enough--is to cry. The crying soon gets out of hand, though--in subsequent letters, his father, his aunt, his sister and his sister's boyfriend all become lachrymose. Charlie has the usual dire adolescent problems--sex, drugs, the thuggish football team--and they perplex him in the usual teen TV ways. He hangs out with a group of seniors, among whom are Patrick and Samantha. Patrick is gay, and Charlie learns about gay, Sam is pretty, and Charlie learns about heartbreak. Sam is, alas, going out with Craig. Charlie goes out with the uppity Mary Elizabeth. Patrick goes with Brad but breaks up with him when Brad's father discovers their relationship. Into these standard teenage issues Chbosky infuses a droning insistence on Charlie's supersensitive disposition. Charlie's English teacher and others have a disconcerting tendency to rhapsodize over Charlie's giftedness, which seems to consist of Charlie's unquestioning assimilation of the teacher's taste in books. In the end we learn the root of Charlie's psychological problems, and we confront, with him, the coming rigors of 11th grade, ever hopeful that he'll find a suitable girlfriend and increase his vocabulary. School Library Journal (June 1999)

Gr 9 UpAn epistolary narrative cleverly places readers in the role of recipients of Charlie's unfolding story of his freshman year in high school. From the beginning, Charlie's identity as an outsider is credibly established. It was in the spring of the previous school year that his best friend committed suicide and now that his class has gone through a summer of change, the boy finds that he has drifted away from old friends. He finds a new and satisfying social set, however, made up of several high school seniors, bright bohemians with ego-bruising insights and, really, hearts of gold. These new triends make more sense to Charlie than his star football-playing older brother ever did and they are able to teach him about the realities of life that his older sister doesn't have the time to share with him. Grounded in a specific time (the 1991/92 academic year) and place (western Pennsylvania), Charlie, his friends, and family are palpably real. His grandfather is an embarrassing bigot; his new best friend is gay; his sister must resolve her pregnancy without her boyfriends support. Charlie develops from an observant wallflower into his own man of action, and, with the help of a therapist, he begins to face the sexual abuse he had experienced as a child. This report on his life will engage teen readers for years to come Francisca Goldsmith, Berkeley Public Library, CA Copyright 1999 Cahners Business Information.

Avoidance of Pervasive Vulgarity

- 1. When considered as a whole, Perks does not appeal to sexual interest in a shameful way. In fact, there are multiple discussions of consent, what that looks like, how to ask for it, and what to do when you're not comfortable in the situation. (See pages 112, 124, and 202). The sexual activity present is not lascivious or lewdly descriptive. It is relayed in very mature language and explained in a manner that makes it understandable and clear for students.
- 2. Scenes describing sexual activity include:
 - a. There is one sex scene. It is when Charlie walks in on his older sister and her boyfriend having sex on the couch in the basement. (page 12) He says "my sister and this boy were naked. He was on top of her and her legs were draped over either side of the couch. And she screamed at me in a whisper. 'Get out. You pervert.' So I left." His perspective is clinical, not prurient or obsessive. Charlie later mentions feeling ashamed about having a dream about him and Sam doing what he saw his sister do (see page 21) and feels compelled to tell Sam about it because in his mind he "saw her naked without her permission", he even began to cry about it when he told her because he felt bad. The conversation that ensued set boundaries for their friendship (see page 22).
 - b. There are two discussions of masturbation. First, after Charlie dreamed about Sam on page 21 he says "Do you know what 'masturbation' is?... Masturbation is when you rub your genitals until you have an orgasm. Wow!" A clinical and biological description of an activity that many students perform or are curious about. The second time is on page 27 when Charlie tells how often he masturbates and who he thinks about "...I also forgot to tell you how often I do it now, which is a lot. I don't like to look at pictures, just close my eyes and dream about a lady I do not know. And I try not to feel ashamed. I never think about Sam when I do it." Again, this is a sterile description of an act that many students perform or are curious about including the mention of how he tries not to feel ashamed about pleasuring himself.
 - c. There is one rape scene. It is when Charlie tells the story of the first party at his house that his older siblings threw, we estimate him to be around 12 and a boy and girl come in to "use the room" (pages 30-32). He describes the boy and girl being drunk, kissing, and the girl began protesting and crying "Please. Dave. No." the boy talks softly to her about how good she looked trying to convince her that it was ok. Charlie says "I wish I could describe this a little more nicely without using words like penis, but that was the way it was." Charlie describes the girl performing oral sex: "she started to kiss his penis. She was still crying. Finally, she stopped crying because he put his penis in her mouth". Charlie "...had to stop watching at that point because I started to feel sick" ... "They kept doing other things, and she kept saying 'no'. Even when I covered my ears I could still

- b. The emotional analysis of each situation that Charlie encountered including the use of alcohol and drugs, the reason why he was partaking, and what he thought about them.
- c. The use of vulgarity was not pervasive, and only the clinical names of anatomy were used [penis, breasts]. There were four curse words that appeared a total of 11 times [asshole, fuck(ing), bullshit, shit], and 4 slang and potentially offensive terms [bitchy dyke, faggot, pussy, prick] that appeared 6 times.
- d. The gained understanding of the nature of his gay friend's existence and homosexual relationship and having to keep it secret because homosexuality was something to hide in the early 90's.
- 4. The remaining depictions of sexual activity are when Charlie and Patrick share stories of other people at school with each other, they are not engaging in these acts, merely telling them so they are descriptive but not overtly graphic because they do not contain explicit details. These are snippets of events and do use crude language on pages 158-160. "They did it doggy-style with one of the sandwich bags" because they didn't have a condom. A guy "was caught masturbating at a drunk party." A girl developed breasts at a young age and "would let some of the boys feel them." Another girl "who allegedly masturbated with a hot dog and had to go to the emergency room." Charlie then wonders what they must feel like now when they "go to their class reunions. I wonder if they're embarrassed, and I wonder if that's a small price to pay for being a legend." The events are relayed with only enough information to get the point across.

Appropriateness

- 1. Professional review sources recommend this book for teens and grades 9 and up, and after full review of the material I agree that it is appropriate for grades 9-12. There are many difficult issues that Charlie encounters, from the suicide of a friend before he enters high school, dealing with repressed sexual assault that happened somewhere around the age of 5-7, experiencing his first party (age 11 or 12), first use of drugs (marijuana and LSD) (age 15) and alcohol (beer, wine, brandy are mentioned) (age 15), and first sexual experience that he willingly participates in (age 16) not sex itself, just making out. These are all experiences that high school students encounter and discuss every day. The way Charlie analyzes his experiences, confronts longheld beliefs by his family, and shares honest emotions with his friends make this an outstanding example of overcoming personal and generational trauma and recovering dignity and self-worth.
- 2. As for maturity, this novel is again appropriate for grades 9-12 since many young people partake in their first drug or alcoholic drink between the ages of 12-16. According to WSU article (2020) the national average is rising to around 16, which is a trend in the right direction, and early onset use was typically 15 (data varies based on study participants and other parameters). So by the time students enter high school they may have already had a first-hand experience with drugs or alcohol or soon will. They may have also already experienced sexual assault according to the Department of Justice statistics as reported to law enforcement, nearly 40% of victims are under the age of 12. Charlie's sister gets pregnant and has an abortion, she happens to be 18 at the time so asks Charlie to drive her so their parents don't find out. I should also mention she ended

Beaufort County School District Reconsideration Committee Checklist The Perks of Being a Wallflower

Educational Significance

The Perks of Being a Wallflower is a NYT #1 bestselling YA novel quite specifically about the high school experience of a 15- to 16-year-old freshman, addressing complex issues through an overly inviting epistolary form. The novel is an endorsement of being actively engaged in one's life, school, and community of peers; of seeking and making opportunities for inclusivity among fellow students; and of finding a supportive teacher/mentor. This particular edition also includes the reader's guide of discussion questions for additional engagement of higher-level thinking skills.

With respect to the BCSD's MVCB, the novel supports the beliefs that:

- · Every student can learn using his or her valuable and unique talents and skills.
 - Charlie's burgeoning interests in becoming a writer are fostered and supported by his teacher and his peers.
- Learning takes place when the physical, emotional, social and intellectual wellbeing of all students is assured at every level and during every transition.
 - o The novel is an exploration of what puts teenagers at risk—physically, emotionally, socially, and intellectual—and what provides for their well-being, safety, and personal growth.
- Students learn best when they are engaged and provided with opportunities for problem solving and active participation.
 - All novels are problem solving texts. No trouble = no story. And the overarching message of the novel is a call to action to participate in life.
- Investment, involvement and connection of all members of the school community are essential to a student's success.
 - The novel is inclusive across lines of gender and orientation, less so by race or economic standing.
- Frequent informal and formal assessment aligned to clearly defined learning objectives will provide improved student achievement.
 - Throughout the novel, Charlie's teacher/mentor figure offers writing opportunities for formal and informal assessment, modeling this belief.

Quality, Content, Manner of Presentation

The Perks of Being a Wallflower is modern classic (#16 on NPR's list of 100 Best-Ever Teen Books), widely reviewed, widely taught, successfully adapted to major, award-winning motion picture (also written and directed by the author). The novel has more than 24k reader reviews on Amazon, with an overwhelming positive rating. On Goodreads, the novel has 76k reviews and 1.5M ratings, again overwhelmingly positive. The book has quite literally saved the lives of teenagers by talking them out of self-harm and suicide, and into the supportive care of counselors—as the 20th anniversary edition's bonus letter implies and the reader reviews make clear. (This edition of the novel also includes backmatter information for contacting the National Sexual Assault Hotline.)

The novel is also an exquisite (and teachable) example of the epistolary form and of epistolary journaling as therapeutic practice. In addition, the books which Charlie's English teacher/mentor gives him over the course of are a catalogue of coming-of-age classics (with a few exceptions) taught in high school and college classrooms.

All of which is to say the novel is of exceptionally high quality and is eminently teachable as well.

Avoidance of Pervasive Vulgarity

In the context of the novel, there are multiple references to sexual assaults, none of which are graphically described. The author deftly conveys the emotional weight of these actions and their consequences. That the novel concludes with a backmatter page of information about the National Sexual Assault Hotline makes clear that the book is an endorsement against these behaviors and for seeking supportive professional help for victims. The narrative itself is likewise an endorsement of the benefits of therapeutic counseling and of supportive, healing communications among family members and peers.

Appropriateness

The Perks of Being a Wallflower appears on the American Library Association's lists of Best Book for Young Adults and Best Books for Reluctant Readers, as well as NPR's 100 Best-Ever Teen Books. School Library Journal endorses the novel for grades 9 and up. The recommended reading age as identified by readers and reflected in the book's metadata is "age 13+." The publisher-provided grade-level recommendation in the metadata is grades 7-12. That the novel has been deemed appropriate for high school readers by multiple sources is well established.

The novel is an autobiographically inspired coming of age narrative which presents an honest, forthright portrayal of its narrator's freshman year of high school in a compelling, empowering, companionable, and educational way—thus far to the benefit of millions of readers. It is more than appropriate for Beaufort County School District high school libraries; it is essential.
