BMS Heart Rate and Music

Mrs. Hensarling and Ms. Felix at Beaufort Middle School designed an arts integration lesson on how various types of music can affect your heartrate and blood pressure.

Students from Ms. Felix's class used their medical detective skills to take the blood pressure and pulse of the students in Mrs. Hensarling's music class.

Students then listened to a snippet of a song specifically affect chosen to their heartrate. Music students then played the percussion line to the song on buckets before the medical students recorded their blood pressure again. This lesson was expanded to include how you can use music to control anxiety and stress levels
